

POET'S LEAP

2025
RIESLING
COLUMBIA VALLEY

TASTING NOTES:

The 2025 Poet's Leap Riesling opens with expressive aromas of white peach and bright citrus, underscored by an elegant thread of minerality. On the palate, the wine is both lively and precise, carried by a beautifully balanced acidity that stretches into a long, generous finish. Pure and varietally true, this vintage captures the freshness and elegance that remain the hallmarks of Poet's Leap.

VINTAGE:

The 2025 growing season was a true winemaker's vintage, defined by consistent, balanced growing conditions that delivered exceptionally high-quality fruit. Veraison was notably uniform, leading to even maturation and allowing winemaker Gilles Nicault to make carefully timed picking decisions as the fruit reached both physiological ripeness and peak flavor development. Above-average September temperatures, paired with the Columbia Valley's characteristically cool fall evenings, resulted in wines with vibrant aromatics, concentrated flavors, and remarkable harmony.

WINEMAKING:

Hand-harvested grapes were carefully sorted and then gently pressed as whole clusters to preserve Riesling's delicate aromatics and refined character. Fermentation in stainless-steel tanks at cool temperatures helped maintain freshness, vibrancy, and varietal purity. Each lot was evaluated individually before final blending to achieve a seamless balance of lively acidity, subtle sweetness, and expressive fruit character.

VINEYARDS:

The 2025 Poet's Leap Riesling draws equally from vineyards in the White Bluffs and Yakima Valley AVAs. White Bluffs fruit lends generous texture, lively acidity, and expressive white peach character, while Yakima Valley Riesling contributes bright citrus notes, minerality, and freshness. Together, the two regions create a wine with vibrant energy, layered complexity, and striking balance.
